

BSF design guidance: PE & Sport

The following guidance documents and publications will support schools and local authorities with the output specifications for sports (and arts) spaces in their Building Schools for the Future (BSF) programme. The publications may also be of help to architects.

In addition there are design checklists specific to Building Bulletin 98 available at www.bsf-culture.co.uk, which also provides electronic links to many of the documents listed here.

All Sport England publications are available to download from www.sportengland.org

- Designing for Sport on School Sites

This publication (pictured below) acts as an overview of the key issues surrounding the design of sports facilities on school sites, particularly with regard to community use.

- Building Schools for the Future:

A guide to the potential VAT issues of community use and possible solutions.

Covering issues such as basic principles for VAT recovery, PFI, conventional contracts, ICT contracts, Voluntary Aided (VA) schools, Academies and extended schools

- The Win Win Scenario: Community Sport & Arts on Education Sites

Intended for schools, colleges, local authority officers and a range of extended schools advisors and groups working on the roll-out and legacy of programmes such as Building Schools for the Future (BSF).

It aims to highlight the benefits of community use and gives a comprehensive guide as to how to provide it successfully. The document is not meant to be read from cover to cover, rather than as a reference toolkit from which just the relevant sections can be used.

- An introduction to Building Schools for the Future

A useful general guide to BSF (pictured below), covering the process step-by-step.
